

Julius Caesar's Body

(To the tune of John Brown's Body)

<http://www.contemplator.com/america/johnbrown.html>

Julius Caesar's body lies a'mouldering in the grave,
Julius Caesar's body lies a'mouldering in the grave,
Julius Caesar's body lies a'mouldering in the grave,
But Rome goes marching on!

Chorus:

*Gau...llia, Gaullia, Gaullia Gau...llia!
I-is under Pax Roma-na!
Brittania, Germania and all of Greece,
The Roman Em-pire marches on!*

A very, very long time past, two thousand years ago
There was a mighty city that went by the name of Rome,
It had a lot of soldiers and it built a lot of roads,
For the Empire to march along!

Chorus

Julius Caesar conquered Gaul, and went to Britannia too,
He conquered and he conquered and the Roman Empire grew,
Then Brutus used a knife and quickly Caesar overthrew,
But the Em-pi-re marched on!

Chorus

Now Rome is just a city, not an Empire any more,
Britannia's now the UK, and we now say France, not Gaul,
We still remember Latin words, their calendar and law,
But the Em-pire is no more!

Chorus:

*Gau...llia, Gaullia, Gaullia, Gaull-ia,
Is now no longer Pax Romana,
We still have Roman buildings and remember Roman law,
But the Empire is no mo-o-o-re!*

Music - the tune is the same as "John Brown's Body" or "Battle Hymn of the Republic"

- - John Brown's bo- dy lies a- mould- rin' in his grave; - - John Brown's bo- dy lies a- mould- rin' in his grave. - - John Brown's bo- dy lies a- mould- rin' in his grave, His soul goes march- ing on. Glo- ry glo- ry hal- e- lu- jah! Glo- ry glo- ry hal- e- lu- jah! Glo- ry glo- ry hal- e- lu- jah! His soul goes march- ing on.
